

ABSTRACT

A method includes, producing in an engine thread included in a processor that processes packets, a vector that represents content of a packet, and storing the vector in a 5 memory associated with the processor such that the vector is accessible by another engine thread included in the processor.

20713209.doc